Capt. Jewell Going

Former Commander Of the Kickapoo To Be Stationed In Alaska

Lieut. Com. Robert C. Jewell formerly of Rockland, who has been in command of the Coast Guard cutter Algonquin at Portland since Nov. 15, will be transferred Sept. 15 to Juneau, Alaska, he announced Sunday before sailing with his ship to Cutts Bay, Md. He said that Lieut. Com. Joseph Stanley Rosenthal, commanding officer of the Coast Guard cutter Thetis, will succeed him in command of the Algonquin.

In the Juneau District of the Coast Guard, Commander Jewell will have command of the 260-foot first class cutter Haida and will engage in seal patrol and halibut fleet duty. He said that he would be examined in October on the West Coast for promotion to the rank of commander.

Before going to Portland, he was stationed five years at Rockland in command of the Coast Guard base. He was commanding officer of the cutter Kickapoo; also of the Maine Inshore Patrol Force, engaging during prohibition in law enforcement duty.

Since he has been stationed in Portland he has resided at Yarmouth with his wife and daughter, Jerry Page Jewell. He will move his family to Juneau, eight degrees from the Arctic Circle.

M. and Mrs. Nathan Price have returned to Brighton, Mass., after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Green.

The Red Jacket

Trial and Reception Will Probably Be Set For An Earlier Date

Changed plans, with reference to the coming of the Red Jacket, and the Rockland reception for it, are noted in the following communication from Elisabeth May Craig, Washington correspondent of the Portland Telegram:

The new Maritime Commission dry-cargo ship "Red Jacket" will probably leave the Federal Shipbuilding Company docks at Kearney, N. J., where it was built, for Rockland, Me., Aug. 17. Commission ships take their trials at the Rockland course, which is also the Navy trial course. The trip from Kearney will take about a day and a half.

Originally, Rockland had planned a celebration of the Red Jacket trial for Aug. 28, but in view of the earlier completion of the vessel, celebration plans may have to be hastened, perhaps to the 21st.

This will also change plans of Maritime Commissioner E. C. Moran, who is planning to bring a group of Washington officials to Maine for the celebration. Mr. Moran is a Rockland man, and former Maine Representative. Mrs. Moran, a Maine woman, and granddaughter of a Maine sea captain, christened the Red Jacket at Kearney in May.

The Red Jacket is one of 20 Maritime Commission ships named for famous clipper ships of sailing days. It is named for a Maine-built clipper, thanks to Moran, who found that the 20 selected for naming commission vessels were all champions of the round-the-horn route.

No Maine clippers were in that class but the old Red Jacket holds the sailing record from New York to Liverpool, and was built at Rockland, so Moran had one of the maritime ships named Red Jacket. Then finding that the new Red Jacket was documented to New York he had the documentation changed to Rockland, so that it will bear "Rockland" as its home port, under the name on the stern.

Earlier completion of the Red Jacket will also change plans for the Maritime Commission training ship "American Seaman," which has been detailed to be at Rockland for the celebration. The Seaman, with its several hundred trainees from all over the country, will be in Rockland a day or two before the Red Jacket arrives. After the Rockland celebration the Seaman will go to Bar Harbor for a couple of days, then to Portland, to Portsmouth and down the coast, stopping at New London.

Melvina S. Crawford, who claims to be the oldest resident in this city, is today celebrating her 99th birthday anniversary, at the home of Capt. and Mrs. George Horton. Where she has resided for 11 years. Her former home was in Burnham. She has been confined to the house for nearly a year as the result of injuries, but has recently been able to take short rides in an automobile. She is receiving in the mail many cards and letters of congratulations, and gifts of flowers and candy.

[EDITORIAL]

AN EXCITING YEAR COMING

The country is on the eve of a momentous political year, featured of course by a Presidential election. This takes place in November, 1940—seemingly a long way off, but the wheels have long been in motion, with both of the major parties jockeying for position. The country wants to know if Roosevelt is going to run for a third term, and on the side of those who hope he will do so, are to be found two distinct classes—one which is made up of henchmen who benefit politically and financially, and one which believes, honestly no doubt, that he is the ablest man the Democratic party has to offer. Probably Postmaster General Farley knows by this time what Roosevelt's views are, because his conference with F. D. R. over Sunday was manifestly not for a discussion of weather or crop conditions. Will Farley fall heir to his favor if Roosevelt does not run, or will it be Cordell Hull, McNutt, or somebody who has not thrust his hat into the arena?

The Republican side of the battling order is replete with good material, yet always there is to be taken into consideration the ebullient equine or "dark horse," to put it a bit more plainly. The voters survey the situation calmly, but presently the excitement will be at a fever pitch, with not the slightest danger of being winter killed.

CONGRATULATIONS, FRED GABBI

Maine Lionism has come into the spotlight through the election of Fred H. Gabbi of Portland as one of the international directors. Mr. Gabbi was Maine's first district governor, and has always been a strong factor in that service club. Something else which gives him prominence and standing is the fact that he selected a Rockland woman for his wife.

EXTREMES IN OUR COUNTRY

What kind of a country is this that we live in. One section of it dries up from tropical heat and drought, while out in the State of Washington six persons are being swept to death by a snow avalanche. When we consider these unfortunate things we find ourselves doubly grateful that we live in Maine.

TWO RIVALS IN OHIO

There isn't much that the Institute of Public Opinion isn't prying into these days—but it's all in the line of what folks talk about. Out in Ohio, for instance, two men are being considered with reference to the Republican Presidential nomination. One is Senator Robert Taft, who has long been a third or fourth choice in the straw voting; and the other, less known here in the East, is the governor of that State, John W. Bricker. "We'll find out," said the Institute of Public Opinion, and what it found was that 62 percent favor Taft and 38 percent Bricker. The lower income voters stood 50-50.

THE LOST BOY ON KAHATIDIN

What a pity! Everybody says that, reading about 12 year old Donn Fendler, the New York boy who has been missing on Mt. Katahdin since a week ago yesterday. Human effort has been extended to the utmost, but no trace of the youngster. The theory has prevailed that he met death falling over a cliff, and the other alternate offers no cheer—the thought of a small boy wandering frantically in a wild country, which offered little in the way of sustenance. What a pity!

SONGS OF OTHER DAYS

Frank Harding, who died in New York the other day, was the oldest publisher of popular music. Some of the tunes take you back into the Gay Nineties, and will get prompt reaction from older readers, whether they like popular music or simply endure it. Forty years ago everybody was singing "Where Did You Get That Hat?" Harding paid $500 for the manuscript, and this was considered a "good stiff price." And here are some others which "went big" on the stage and which almost everybody whistled or sang: "Down Went McGinty," "Two Little Girls in Blue," "Throw 'Em Down McCloskey," "Take Back Your Gold," "The Rolling Mill Man," "Molly and I and the Baby," "Patsy Branigan," and "Bay Au Revoir But Not Goodbye."

Van Baalen Meets Our Governor

Here's an exchange of felicitations. The man in the center is Mr. Van Baalen, one of the proprietors of Rockland's new industry, and he is telling the man at the right, Gov. Barrows, how much he likes Maine in general and Rockland in particular. Gov. Barrows congratulates the concern upon coming into Maine, and tells Mr. Van Baalen the State extends its greetings and stands ready to co-operate in any way it can. Looking on with satisfaction is Mayor Frederick Payne of Augusta, who had a hand in getting the new industry here. —Photo by Dick Reed of the Maine Development Commission.

The Class Of '06

Going To Hold Its Annual Reunion At Farm Bureau Hall, Benner Hill

The committee for the reunion of the Class of 1906, Rockland High School, voted to hold this year's get-together Thursday, Aug. 3, meeting at the former Chapel on Benner Hill, now occupied by the Farm Bureau. It was voted to have a hot lobster stew and "fixings". Postal reply cards have been mailed to the out-of-town members of the class, and it is hoped that this reunion will be the best attended of recent years.

The Committee voted to make the date Thursday rather than Friday, so not to conflict with the fireworks at the Rockport Regatta. The view from the place chosen for the meeting is one of the most beautiful in Knox County. If the weather is favorable out-door games and socialities can be enjoyed. If the weather should be unfavorable the Committee still urges the members to be there, as ample space will be available for the get-together indoors.

For information as regards transportation or any other matter simply call or write William J. Sullivan.

W.C.T.U. FIELD DAY

A BRAVE BOY SCOUT

Joe Anastasio, Remembering What He Had Learned, Saves Donald Clifford

Joe Anastasio of 79 Broadway, has been a member of Troop 203, High School Boy Scouts the past two-and-one-half years, and because he benefited by the lessons he learned there, Donald Clifford, 13, is still enjoying his school vacation, and at play with the other boys.

Saturday afternoon Don and two other lads, named Brown and Robshaw, were at the Engine Quarry fishing for cans. Robshaw was the only member of the trio who could swim. On a ledge about 10 feet above the water were Joe Anastasio and Everett Clancy.

Reaching for one of the cans Donald Clifford slipped on loose gravel and went in over his head. When he emerged above the surface his mouth was full of water and cries for help were very feeble. They were heard by the two boys on the ledge, however, and Anastasio dove into the water when he saw the Clifford boy going down again.

When he undertook to pull the Clifford lad to the surface the latter did what many drowning persons do—grasped him around the neck. Joe twisted the boys arms above his head, and with his mind intent upon what the Scout book said, held the youngster by the chest and swam ashore with him, a distance of about 10 feet, and lugged him onto the bank.

The Clifford boy was still breathing, but dazed and in this condition sat on the bank until removed to his home on Park street.

And that's how a brave Boy Scout and a Scout book saved a life.

Sunday Yacht Races

This Story Tells About White Wings, Mackerel, Flounders and Wind

First one and then another was becalmed in the race at the Yacht Club Sunday, the winners being Lin McRae first, Bickmore second, Bud Pillsbury of Owl's Head third and Capt. Fred Haskell, fourth. Capt. Mert Haskell gained over last week's race, coming in fourth from the last (instead of last) and expects some day to really make a good showing. There were several new entries of trim looking crafts, and but for the tricky wind shifting, the spectators would have witnessed a good contest. The mystery boat didn't show because of lack of wind, but will enter next week.

The interested crowd shows an increase each week, and Sunday saw the breakwater lined with people, in swimming and cheering the racers. Several of the sailboats were seen trolling for mackerel, while over on the North Shore flats, flounders are very plentiful. If cut right, they make a tasty dish. Just sliver them, that is, cut down each side of the back bone, and you've got something. And no bones!

Two old salts gave an interesting slant on the ways of the wind Sunday, saying that the direction of the wind has changed a great deal this summer, and in fact haven't blown for 20 years the way it has blown this year. They predict a cold, hard winter, with plenty of snow. The boys sailing yachts agree that they notice a great difference in the wind from previous seasons.

NOT ON LONG

Dense fog hampered foreign and coastwise shipping along the New England coast for hours yesterday. The barge Whitehead, enroute to New York from Rockland, in tow of the tug Goliath stranded on Peaked Hill Bar off Provincetown but was floated three hours later.

No Plan Is Made

For Transfer Of Inshore Patrol; Mayor Veazie Hears From Smith

Spurred by the rumor that the headquarters of the Maine Inshore Patrol might be transferred from this city to Southwest Harbor, Mayor Edward R. Veazie promptly took the matter up with Senator Wallace H. White, Jr., and Congressman Clyde H. Smith. From the latter he this morning received the following telegram:

Cong. Smith's Reply
While there has been a study to move the Coast Guard from Rockland to Southwest Harbor in order to be at the Lighthouse Service dock, no plan has been made, and will not be until giving me notice in advance. Meanwhile I am getting other members of Congress to do their bit to prevent this change. From which it would appear that no definite move has been made, Rockland would lose many families if it materialized.

Advices from Congressman Smith yesterday said that the U.S.S. Schenck, a destroyer, will be available at the Rockport Regatta from Aug. 2 to 5. The Coast Guard Cutter Algonquin was originally allotted for the Regatta but has been called in for repairs and the Travis will be sent.

It was the plant and flower of Light.

"The Black Cat"

Black Cat, you made a rash remark
Before your latest scolding.
Now readers dog you in the dark,
Your nemesis ensnaring.

Some of the neighbors (so 'tis said)
That burdock prize so highly
That should you touch its lofty head
They'd wring your neck right wryly.

So do not mar one leaf, my friend,
Or else—BEWARE OF MURDOCK!

A woman tourist was seen on a Port Clyde wharf the other day looking for Route No. 1 that she might get to Portland. To those of us who have lived here all of our lives this may seem to carry the aspect of humor, but when the highways are not adequately marked it is not always an easy matter for the driver to know which road to take. I have found this true in the nine States I have visited, and sometimes in the Canadian Provinces, although Canada looks after the visitor rather better than this country does, it must be admitted.

A community which boasts only a few houses has one of the best Grange organizations in this part of the State, as well as a well kept Grange home. I refer to White Oak Grange of North Warren where I was happy to be a guest a few nights ago. Members who had birthdays in June or July were reminded of it by the fine supper in their honor.

The Black Cat returns to the job after a week's vacation while Roving Reporter takes demanded the space.

This year 19 gardens of Bar Harbor's beautiful summer estates will be opened to the public, for the benefit of the Bar Harbor Chapter, American Red Cross. Sunday, July 30, or the following Sunday, if it rains, from 2 until 6 o'clock in the afternoon, visitors to Bar Harbor, may, by paying $1, visit as many of these gardens as they wish. Large Red Crosses will mark the gardens thus open, and may be easily recognized. At no other time will it be possible to view these lovely flowers, and everyone is invited to Bar Harbor next Sunday, for this annual event.

There are few who can preserve squash from the fall through the winter into the month of July following, and have the squash in as perfect condition as in the fall and winter. This was done last winter by Harry Swift, East Warren, who set away a fifteen-pound squash on a shelf in his pantry. His sister, Mrs. Fred Mathews of Warren village, who cut it the week of the Fourth, said there was not a blemish to be found either outside or inside it, and she enjoyed as nice a squash pie in mid summer, as one could wish for.

TALK OF THE TOWN

The Ladies' Aid Society will serve supper at the town hall, in Cushing Wednesday.

Blue Bonnet Girl Scouts are camping at South Pond, with Capt. Fannie Trask in charge.

Committees of the Congregational Church will hold a food sale Saturday afternoon and night at Silsby's Flower Shop.

More power machine operators are asked to register for work. Manager Trott of the Employment Service placed eight at the Camden Street factory.

County Commissioner Adin L. Hopkins, who suffered an ill turn at the recent State meeting in this city, will be confined to his bed for several weeks, but is making gradual gain.

Rockland Elks, with two members from Bath took to the high seas Sunday in Poy Brown's cabin cruiser "J. O." Twixt this port and Hurler Isle many deep sea monsters were lured from the depths. Fearful of success in this line the Elks took along great quantities of lobsters and clams which were later concocted into a most satisfying repast by that prince of chefs "Tommy" Anastasio.

Sheriff C. Earle Ludwick, Deputy Sheriffs Ernest Gray and Robert A. Webster of this city and Charles Spruce of Camden attended the meeting of the Maine Identification Officers' Association in Houlton last week. They found hospitable hosts there and enjoyed an excellent session. The outing was somewhat marred for Bob by the frequent and mysterious disappearance of his raincoat. The next meeting of the association will be in Rockland Aug. 17.

The first reunion in 32 years is to be held Aug. 16 by the Class of 1907, R.H.S. The exact place of the get-together will be decided upon in the near future. The committee on arrangements includes Mayor Veazie, E. B. Crockett, A. F. Lamb, E. C. McIntosh and Mrs. Iris Emery Weymouth. An entertainment committee was appointed consisting of Mrs. Ruth Gurdy Bird, Mrs. Emily Hix Faber and Mrs. Lon Cobb Emery.

FOR MONHEGAN RACES

Cutters Algonquin and Harriet

Lane Are Assigned For Duty On

Aug. 26-27

The Coast Guard cutters Algonquin and Harriet Lane have been assigned to patrol the course of the Portland Yacht Club's Monhegan

Island Race, Aug. 26-27, according to word received Thursday from

Capt. T. A. Shanley, commanding officer of the Boston Division of the Coast Guard, by Walter DeC Moore,

Jr., chairman of the Race Committee.

Capt. Shanley advised Mr. Moore that the cutters could be used both for patrol work and to carry committee members of the yacht club.

In former years one cutter generally has been assigned to assist with ocean race, but two years ago the vessel was called away for other work soon after the race began.

This year the Race Committee requested assistance through Senator

Frederick Hale.

Amazing Amount Of Work Done

Annual report of the Rockland Branch Public Health Nursing Service, from July 1, 1938 to July 1, 1939.

Nursing and Welfare

tended for eight months, 64; Postpartum visits, 406; Newborn visits,

441; Non-communicable and communicable, 936; Tuberculosis, 110;

Veneral diseases, 59; Crippled

Children, 57 infants and pre-schools

1858; Parent consultations, 238.

Total visits for year, 4386; total number of visits to homes, 2510.

School Work

Children weighed, measured and examined during the school year,

1861; number found with defects,

591; found with defective teeth, 919;

corrections, 230; found with defective throats, 206; corrections, 41;

found with defective vision, 78; corrections, 27; visits to classrooms,

335; parent consultations, 238;

teachers assisted with health programs, 34; sanitary inspections of schools and grounds, 55.

Classroom inspections were made in the grades each month. We have had no epidemic of contagious diseases in the past school year. A smaller number of exclusions for pedicul and skin diseases have been noted the past year. This is due to a large extent to the splendid co-operation given by the teachers in carrying health teachings along with the routine classroom work. The first eight months of the fiscal year the service was covered by two nurses. Since

March 1 we became a one nurse service, and at that time the delivery service was discontinued.

Clinics

Twelve "Well Baby" clinics have been held, with an attendance of 362 children. These clinics are attended by mothers from the surrounding towns as well as our local mothers. The towns of Orls Head,

Thomaston, Union, Camden, Rock-

port, Warren, St. George, and Crie-haven have been represented during the past year. Eighty-one children have received inoculations for Diphtheria at these clinics along with the routine clinic inspections.

Dr. C. B. Popplestone has as in the past three years given his time to attend these clinics.

Eighteen Dental clinics were held.

The work being divided between two dentists who received $10 per clinic. Children from the first four grades attended. The report of the work is as follows: 140 children attended, 140 cleanings, 271

fillings of permanent teeth, five fillings of temporary teeth, 220 extractions of temporary teeth, 22 ex-

This Linc McRae, Jr., is a chip off the old block, and thereby hangs a tale. He is the owner of a small but venerable sloop yclept "Skipper." He triumphed several times over his pal, Bud Pillsbury until one fine day Bud appeared with a modern, able "Indian" and sailed circles around the unhappy skipper. In spite of this, a match race was sailed Sunday with the Skipper cleared of every ounce of surplus weight, even to the cushions. The impossible happened with the little Skipper taking the race. "Gee, I don't know how we did it Dad," said Linc Jr., recalling the old days when L. E. himself in football harness would say after winning a not-to-be-won game, "Jeannie Crinie, boys, we won but I don't know how we did it."

Personal Finance

Well Known Company Is Extending a Complete Service Here

The Personal Finance Company of Augusta, with offices at 241 Water street, is extending their loan service this year to Rockland and vicinity. An interview with Howard Davies, Jr., manager of the firm, disclosed the fact that Mr. Davies feels that there is a definite need for their Personalized Service in Rockland.

The company represents the largest organization of its kind in the world; and the office which will serve the Rockland territory is now celebrating its 11th year in business in the City of Augusta.

Mr. Davies further stated that, after 11 years of financing the purchase of automobiles, furniture, clothing, electrical equipment, and of providing a convenient way for hundreds to buy the things that make for comfort and happiness, our company has gained vast experience in adapting our service to the circumstances of the individual. Through good times and depression years, our financial assistance has been available for the emergencies which people of average means face at some time or another.

The Personal Finance Company is engaged in the business of granting loans from $20 to $300. It has 376 wide spread offices throughout the United States.

Because of their vast experience in helping to adjust family budgets, 766,000 people came to the Personal Finance Company in one year alone to borrow 117 million dollars.

The vast majority of the 766,000 people were housewives who have learned that borrowing money can be good business.

The company is a nationally known advertiser. At the present time it has a very interesting program titled "Doc Barclay's Daughters." This program may be heard over the Columbia Networks Monday through Friday from 2 to 2.15 p. m. adv.

Thomas J. Foley has joined the staff of the New Thorndike Hotel as day clerk, a position which he was most satisfactorily filling 25 years ago.

Representative Samuel Farwell of Unity, a former Rockland boy, is a candidate for delegate to the Republican National Convention from the Second District. Maine is entitled to 13 delegates.

Bath Times: Eddie Hamblett, powerful fullback of the Morse high eleven the last three seasons, who was awarded the Student Council Athletic cup at the June graduation, won't be entering the University of Maine this fall, but after a year at the Iron Works expects to take up his studies at Orono in the fall of 1940. If the strapping youngster takes his football seriously there's venturing a guess he nails a backfield berth with the Pale Blue before graduation. He should fit nicely into Coach Fred Brice's scheme of things. Not only should he tip the scales at better than 180 when he lands at the State University but he packs plenty of speed for a big boy.

SOUTH THOMASTON

At the meeting Wednesday of Wessaweskeag Grange, Mrs. A. F. Sleeper was elected lecturer to complete the unexpired term of Mrs. Reginald McLaughlin. It was voted to paint the front of the piazza; and to recess until Sept. 6.

Those attending the Christian Youth Association meeting Sunday night were well repaid for their time. After the pledge and song service, Schubert's "Serenade" was played on the violin by Spalding Hodson, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Watts. Then followed a fine sermon by Charles Ellis of Rockland who is a recent graduate of Wheaton College in Illinois. This group is doing fine work in conducting meetings Sunday nights, monthly socials, etc. It is under the able guidance of Miss Margaret McKnight, and provides excellent training in leadership for young people. Everyone is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. William Griffin in Rockland entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Butler of Los Angeles. Guests were Miss Louise Butler, Gilford Butler, Frank Stanton and Mr. and Mrs. Alden Butler.

The series of Grange-church suppers being held fortnightly are proving popular with townspeople and summer residents. The recent supper netter $10.69. Mrs. J. T. Baum and Mrs. A. F. Sleeper were joint chairmen. Another supper will be held Friday with Mrs. Clifford Dennison as chairman.

Gilford Butler and guest Maynard Deane of Portland spent a week's vacation at his cottage at Pleasant Beach. Several groups were entertained there during the week. The Sunday School Council meets Tuesday night at 7.30 at the home of Miss Louise Butler to discuss repairs and improvements on the church and other matters. Everyone interested in church work is invited.

Merry Picnickers

Another red letter day for the Sunday School was July 19 when that group spent the day at Whitcomb's Beach, Owls Head. Bathing, swimming, games, races and contests on the sand directed by Miss Mary Sleeper occupied the time 'til dinner when 55 children and parents seated themselves round a table spread under the trees and covered with an unusually large amount of food and two pairs of fruit punch.

The crowning glory of the dinner was the 35-pound watermelons which were the gifts of Spare Naum and Naum & Adams Co. of Rockland. A basket of plums and another of candy kisses, were the gifts of Miss McKnight and her guest. After dinner the game of "Ring Pop" won every youngster a lollipop and then a quiet period ensued while Miss McKnight told stories.

Transportation was furnished by Chester Grierson, Henry Sleeper, Clifford Dennison, Mrs. Randall Hopkins, Joseph Baum, Archie Rackliff and Miss McKnight.

CUSHING

A party from Philadelphia is vacationing at the Dr. Judovick homestead under the chaperonage of Attorney and Mrs. Judovick. They enjoyed a fishing trip Friday and returned with a fine catch. Another fishing party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vink, Merle D. James, Paul Dorris and D. F. Nacher. One of the women received prizes for the biggest, the best and the first fish caught. The trips were made with Capt. George Horton.

OWL'S HEAD

Miss Elizabeth St. Clair entertained recently Miss Margaret Ames and Miss Patricia Wall of Rockport, Miss Cynthia Greeley and Miss Ruby Elliot. This week her guest is Miss Leona Ames of Rockport.

 "IT'S A WONDERFUL WORLD"

James Stewart and Claudette Colbert in "It's a Wonderful World"

"It's a Wonderful World" is above all happy entertainment. It combines those qualities that made "The Thin Man" and "It Happened One Night" smash hits, but has a flavor all its own. It is joyously alive, modern and timely. Its romance is fresh and breezy fast and furious. Its mystery is gripping and suspenseful. Its story twists are novel, the action spirited. Stewart never has been more perfectly cast than as a former All-American football player who chaperons a playboy because the pay is good and the career is more promising than demonstration ing an electric belt in a drug store window. Miss Colbert as the poetess on the loose makes an ideal companion for fun and frolic. For production values the picture has a score of hairbreadth escapes, topped by Stewart's mad leap into a river from a speeding train while handcuffed to Pendleton. It has a performance of "What Price Glory?" in which Stewart wears blackface. It has a scene which Miss Colbert, believing she is in the hands of a desperate criminal, sets fire to her car with a cigarette lighter. It has two spine-tickling murders and a third is barely prevented.—adv.

Fake Auto Plates

No More "India" and "China" Stuff To Cover the Maine Plates

Two weeks ago the Executive Council voted that the fake automobile plates which had become more or less of a fad should be removed from all Maine cars. As this order will be carried out we shall probably see no more of the foreign plates unless they are genuine. When these plates began to appear hereabouts they aroused a lot of interest among people who thought they were looking at cars from Cairo, Hong Kong, Madras and other remote places. The assumption was that the cars carrying these plates were owned by people who had crossed the water to attend the World's Fair. It soon appeared that the plates were not genuine and were sold to car owners who liked to display them as a sort of joke.

The plates could be bought very cheaply. In very small letters in one corner was printed the word "souvenir" and that was about all that was on them to distinguish them from genuine plates. What got the buyers of these plates into trouble was that some of them began covering their own Maine plates with them.

This went along a while without any interference until finally a highway officer reported to the State Department a hit and run accident. The officer said that he could not catch the number of the offending car except that it was from China. It was readily apparent that the man responsible for the accident was carrying one of the fake plates. This as it proved was lucky for him for had his own numbers been visible he might have been hailed into court as a hit and run driver.

The accident was brought to the attention of the Council at its next meeting and that body voted that there would be no more alien number plates on cars. Those who have them can keep them of course as curiosities but they cannot decorate their cars with them.—Sunday Telegram.

SAMOSET WINS THE GAME

The Easterns of Belfast came to the Breakwater again, Sunday afternoon and failed to make a landing. The Scottmen outcoring the visitors 10 to 5. Crockett led the hitting with three safe wallops. French strong in the pinches, as usual, fanned 12 of the Easterns. Roberts did some long distance work with a double and a triple. The score:

A MAID CALLED MILLS

Whom You Will Take To Your Heart When She Talks About Household Matters

Ever so many of you evidently like to delve through old-time recipe books and try occasional quaint jams, sweets or beverages, beloved of early New England housekeepers. Edith Putnam Anthoine of Waltham recalls a delicious sweetmeat her grandmother Putnam made, candied root of wild spikenard which she used to dig in Wilton, N. H., and called "life-of-man."

The same lady recalls pickled artichokes; leaves of rose geranium in the cake pan when sponge cake was to be baked. She herself wraps butter to be used for confectioner's sugar icing in leaves of rose geranium to be left overnight to absorb the fragrance and flavor. In the morning the finished rose geranium icing is tinted pink and spread on a yellow butter cake. Wouldn't you love a piece of that cake? And we're trying another idea of Mrs. Anthoine's, nasturtium seed pods chopped with tarragon leaves to give a special flavor to tartar sauce.

Her grandmother's rose leaf jam may interest you. The rose leaves, finely chopped are packed tightly in jelly jars in layers with sugar sprinkled thickly over each layer; then the jars are covered and set in a sunny window to "cook."

The fine chopping creates enough moisture to dissolve the sugar and the sun dries the rest. We have another Rose Jelly sent by Anna Judd of Hartford which is printed today. We haven't forgotten being reproved sternly for wasting time and space on "tripperies" but some of us find them fascinating. Now for two ideas we thought practical and clever for the amateur decorators.

Louis Gage, needing a bureau for her children's nursery, sawed off the legs of an old bureau to bring it down to the children's height, painted it nursery blue and here's the touch of genius... she screwed gay alphabet blocks to the drawers for knobs.

Louise Merrill, scanning the column, recently noticed the suggestion for a length of glazed flowered chintz as summer wall hanging to replace a heavy portrait and writes, "I think we've improved that idea a little. I used a square of printed linen, a lovely flower design bought as a remnant length, stretched it over white blotting paper the same size and gave it two coats of shellac. I then had it framed in a natural wood frame and it looks like an antique canvas and it's so cool and summery, dominating our living room."

Isn't that an idea for you? Did we remember to tell you about the waste baskets in one of New York's swankiest shops? Just colorful magazine covers, cut crazy-quilt or futuristic fashion with flowers and figures and scenes blended together, pasted on waste-baskets and shellacked? Stunning and costly. Try making one yourself.

Tomato Scalloped Potatoes. Peel and slice 4 medium potatoes. Arrange in layers in battered casserole, dotting each layer with Land O Lakes butter, a sprinkle of flour, salt and pepper. When dish is full, pour over one bottle of Blue Label Tomato Juice Cocktail, and bake covered for 45 minutes at 350 degrees F. and an additional half hour uncovered.

Prach Soup. Two cups sliced peaches, 2 cups white wine, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 cloves, sugar to taste. Put a pint of water with spices on the range, add peaches, cook until tender. Press through colander. Put back with juice and boil for a few minutes. Stir in the wine and add sugar to taste. Heat just under boiling point and serve in hot plates garnished with crostons.

To Can Blueberries. Pick over berries. Have a large kettle of water boiling, half full. Measure one to three quarts of berries into a square of cheese cloth. Gather up the corners of the cloth and dip into water from 15 to 30 seconds according to volume of water and berries used. Don't hold the bag too tightly or too near the berries as this prevents the circulation of water through the berries. Lift the bag out at the end of 15 seconds and if the berries have started to bleed at intervals of an inch or two apart on the bag, they are blanched enough. Then cold dip immediately. As soon as cooled, pack in jars as tightly as possible without crushing. Partially seal and process. Pint jars 15 minutes, quarts, 20 minutes.

Rose Jelly. Pick four pounds of red rose leaves early in the morning. Put them in a closed jar. Pour over 3/4 cupful lemon juice and one quart boiling water. Cover the jar tightly, and let it stand for two days. Press out the leaves and put the liquid into a preserve kettle. Boil slowly without a cover for 20 minutes. Then add two pounds of loaf sugar; stir and boil till it flakes from the spoon. Put into small jars.

MENU. Breakfast. Preserved Figs in Cream. Puffed Wheat. Dropped Eggs. Muffins. Coffee. Lunch. Friend's Baked Bean Sandwiches. Piccalilli. Blueberries and Cream. Tetley Tea. Dinner. Peach Soup. Deerfoot Sausage. Ham and Bacon Grill. Tomato Scalloped Potatoes. Fried Summer Squash. Broiled Tomatoes. Blueberry Pie. Coffee.

PORT CLYDE. Mrs. Jennie Hupper is spending a few days in Thomaston. Miss Melba Ulmer of Thomaston called Sunday on Mrs. Elden Davis and Miss Esther Seavey. The Baptist Sewing Circle meets Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gussie Chadwick.

Read The Courier-Gazette. A party was held at the church last Thursday night by the Sunday School. Refreshments were served and games were played. Those present were: Frances Caven, Harriett Johnson, Arline Morrison, Dorothy Jackson, Selma Blomberg, George Baum, Jr., Everett Baum Jr., Carl Johnson, Donald Johnson, Ernest Swanson, Hilda Swanson, Marilyn Baum, Vera Blomberg, Alice Carlson, Alice Caven, Shirley Carlson, Floyd Johnson, and James Caven. Special guests were Miss Margaret McKnight, Miss Beatrice Brown, Mrs. Bernice Carlson, Mrs. Mary Carlson, Harriet Niles and Mrs. Victor Blomberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Seavey and daughter Marion of Long Cove were visitors Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Peter McCourtie's. Miss Dolly Johnson and Miss Margaret Rogers were home from McGee Island and spent Sunday with their parents Mr. and Frank Johnson and Mrs. Margaret Rogers.

Mrs. Laura Richards formerly of this place is visiting relatives and friends here. Mrs. Kenneth Morrison and son Neil are making their home with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Havener in Friendship.

Dr. and Mrs. Donald Haskell and son Phillip, Mrs. Elizabeth Haskell and Nancy Webel of Rockland were callers Sunday on Mr. and Mrs. James Caven. Dr. and Mrs. Peter McCourtie have returned from Newcastle after three years' absence.

Robert McGee visited friends Sunday in Vinalhaven. Mrs. Ada Simpson of Thomaston was recent guest of Mrs. W. A. Camerson. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carlson had as visitors Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lowell of Thomaston.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bergland and family of Rockland have moved to Richard Richards' house. Mrs. Sarah Crowley and daughter Bette Dixon, Francis Rogers, Raymond Jones, Capt. Chris Thorner and Capt. Peter Nicolaisen were callers Thursday on Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen James and family and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wotton and son of North Attleboro, Mass., are vacationing at Crowles cottage.

LeRoy Jackson and Joan Baum of Thomaston visited Thursday with John R. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Milne. Mr. and Mrs. Eric Grussel, daughters Kathleen and Barbara and son Carl of Worcester, Mass., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Carlson and daughter Irene of Belfast were guests Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baum. Mrs. Leslie Milne sustained a broken wrist in a recent fall.

Mr. and Mrs. William Caven and daughter Frances were callers Sunday on Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson. Mrs. Everett Baum remains a patient at Fairfield but is gaining nicely. The barge Winfred Sheridan is taking on a load of paving from John Meehan and Son for shipment to New York.

Frank Johnson suffered a severe injury to his hand Wednesday. We are told by a famous man of parts that ragweed is the most ornery of vegetables. Now we had never thought of this weed as a vegetable. If it's fit to eat—and if it's a vegetable it should be—then there may be some good in it after all. But the many people who suffer from ragweed sensitization do not even know ragweed when they see it. It produces a pollen and the wind blows it about and from Aug. 1 to September those who are sensitive to it spend much of their time sneezing and wheezing in red-eyed streaming nose hay fever. The Garden Club of Thomaston has had the courage and civic pride to take it on themselves to rid their neighborhood of this pest and we hope the Garden Club of Rockland will do likewise and possibly give certain sections of our city to members for their special police work in ridding the town of this pest that is easily eradicated if taken now when the plants are small. It has shallow roots and is easily pulled up when small and is really an excellent fertilizer so you can pull your own if you like.

Only One Score. The Chiefs triumphed over the clever Rockport team, by the narrow margin of 1 to 0.

The fans enjoyed every minute of it, and were treated by some spectacular fielding by Sandblom and Miller of the Rockport club. Coombs, the Chiefs speed merchant, also turned in a great running catch off Ladd in the first inning, but the finest piece of fielding was made by Sandblom, when he leaped high and stabbed Lyford's liner in the seventh.

The only run of the game came in the sixth, when Guilford slapped a single into left, went to second on a passed ball, and scored on Erickson's scorching drive into left field. Phil Brown, the Chiefs' dependable southpaw, baffled the boys from "Rockport by the Sea," all through the game, fanning an even dozen and yielding only three safe blows. Aho, the visitors' hurler, also pitched well enough to win any game. The Rockport team will return Sept. 2 to avenge this game, if it can.

The Rockland Pirates invade the fair Isle of Vinalhaven, next Sunday. The League leaders will try to be the first to beat the Chiefs this year. It should be a thriller.

"Camels put a thrill in every puff—and many more puffs in every cigarette"

SAYS KENNETH FRANK, PROMINENT SPORTSMAN

HERE'S THE "INSIDE TRACK" on more cigarette enjoyment for your money, as "Ken" Frank sees it: "I judge cigarettes by the way they burn. I find that longer-burning Camels smoke much milder, cooler, with a more delicate taste. Look at the results of these recent laboratory tests—they show Camel's longer burning means the same as 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK. That's a real saving. And Camel's rich, ripe flavor makes every puff a real thrill." Take "Ken" Frank's tip: Judge your cigarettes by the way they burn. Smoke Camels for smoking pleasure at its best... and more of it per pack!

Camel—the cigarette of Costlier Tobaccos

By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give smokers the equivalent of 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK

Recent impartial laboratory tests point out which popular cigarette gives the most actual smoking. These tests were conducted by a well-known group of scientists and covered 16 of the largest-selling brands. The results:

1 CAMELS were found to contain MORE TOBACCO BY WEIGHT than the average for the 15 other of the largest-selling brands.

2 CAMELS BURNED SLOWER THAN ANY OTHER BRAND TESTED—25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME OF THE 15 OTHER OF THE LARGEST-SELLING BRANDS! By burning 25% slower, on the average, Camels give smokers the equivalent of 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

3 In the same tests, CAMELS HELD THEIR ASH FAR LONGER than the average time for all the other brands.

There's luxury in the fine, delicate flavor and aroma of Camel's costlier tobaccos...there's economy in their unique, long-burning quality. Camels are the better cigarette that every smoker can afford.

MORE PLEASURE PER PUFF—MORE PUFFS PER PACK

AT THE EELLS BOAT-BARN

Curtis String Quartet Gave First In Series Of Concerts Sunday Night

The summer music season opened Sunday night with the first concert in a series of three by The Curtis String Quartet. In their own "home," the Capt. Eells Boat Barn, Rockport, which with its limited space, marine paintings and other unique touches, provides an intimacy and charm that is ideal for the presentation and hearing of chamber music. The members of the Quartet—Jascha Brodsky and Charles Jaffe, violins, Max Aronoff, viola, and Orlando Cole, cello need no introduction. Through their summer sojourns in Rockport they have established themselves firmly in the high regard of the local people but of greater importance is the fact that these four gifted musicians form an organization that occupies a foremost position among string quartets before the public today, enjoying an international reputation. Their work carries almost perfection in attack, shading, and balance, to such a degree that many times it seems as if they are but one instrument. They imbue their playing with a seriousness that savors of a ritual devotion, which must make a profound impression on the hearer. Their first program was: Quartet in A minor, opus 29, Franz Schubert; Allegro ma non troppo; Andante; Menuetto; Allegro moderato.

The works of Schubert, creator of a vast music literature and the greatest genius the first quarter of the 19th century produced, show an inexhaustible inspiration. Vivid and original in their character, they are imbued with an indestructible force and profundity of idea, and though 100 years have passed since his decease, to this day his works sparkle with freshness and fragrant bloom. His chamber music shows skill, power and coloring in the instrumentation, and in listening one realizes that one can never say beforehand what plan of modulation he has conceived. He toys with a change of tonalities, sometimes straying into far lying accords, yet with exceptional skill and simplicity he returns into his original tonality, and in this realm only few are equal to Schubert. This was borne home in the A minor quartet, which though the D minor is considered the most original and important, is held the most fascinating.

In speaking of Beethoven we are reminded that his career ended in quartet-writing. For the last two years of his life he wrote almost exclusively in that form; in all the vitality with which he was blest, transcending the failing forces of that life which had so few blessings. Among all his melodies, those of the last years are the most profound and the most beautiful. It seemed as if his deafness endowed his palette with new colors and gave him an auditory exaltation beyond (Continued on Page Eight)

Rockland Man's Important Invention

"The Crockett Equilibrator"

This appliance is known as the "Crockett Equilibrator" and is protected by U. S. patent No. 2,162,939, issued June 30, 1939.

Its object is to cause a ship to be able to steer the same compass courses regardless of her trim, whether by the head or by the stern.

The magnetic needles of the compass, due to its construction, always remain level, so, when the trim of the ship is changed by loading or discharging cargo, it will cause the athwartships magnets to be raised, or lowered, as much as 1/2 inch, and the fore and aft magnets will be thrown out of position, through the raising of one end and the lowering of the other, thereby causing them to exert an entirely different magnetic influence on the compass needles than they would if arranged in such a manner as to keep them always parallel to the plane of the compass needles.

It is due to this fact, rather than the very slight change in the polarity of the ships magnetism, that causes her to run different compass courses at every change of trim.

This invention provides a means of quickly and easily leveling the binnacle, or compass shelf, and keeping the compensating magnets always parallel to the plane of the compass needles, and exerting the same magnetic influence on said compass needles regardless of the trim of the ship.

It works out in the same way in the case of small, fast motor yachts, where the change of trim is so great when running at a safe weather speed, and at full cruising speed in clear weather. When this type of boat is running at full speed, they settle down by the stern, lifting their bows out of water, and cause their compensating magnets to be thrown into an entirely different position as regards the compass needles, making it necessary to run very much different courses at these different speeds. For many years, this great change in compass courses on full speed runs has been thought to be due to excessive vibration, but that is not the cause, as can be easily proven. This invention has been tested on several ships whose compasses have never given satisfaction, owing to the great difference in compass courses, when light and when loaded, and has proven entirely satisfactory; and once used on any boat or ship whose trim changes greatly with a change of speed or cargo, will give perfect satisfaction and prove its real worth.

Binnacle Installation

Queer Superstitions

Perhaps Some Of Our Readers Can Add To Elmer Allen's List

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Are you superstitious? If so, you have lots of company. When the housewife drops the dishcloth, she immediately exclaims, "There, somebody is coming hungry." When the kettle of potatoes on the stove boils dry, she says, "We are to have rain."

Roy is very superstitious. For instance, he says, "When I leave the house and I have forgotten something, I never turn around and walk back. I always go backwards to the house and do my errand. I never cross over from one side of the road to the other." He also says, "When I go to bed I always put my feet in first and I am sure of a good night's sleep and when I get up in the morning my hands and head touch the floor at the same time and I al-

(Continued from Page Seven) anything dreamed. This very greatness, particularly in the string quartettes, left his work of the final years with no general appreciation, even among musicians, until a half century after his death at least. In more recent years, however, the quartettes are becoming more widely used and known, and in listening to the P major in Sunday night's concert, one felt no group could give a more serious and devoted rendition of these immortal compositions.

This fine but difficult quartet, sometimes called the "cello quartet" on account of the prominence given to this instrument, was written in 1806. Count Rasmounofsky to whom the work was dedicated (or written for) is supposed to have played the cello, and the set of variations on the Russian song used for the finale was a second compliment to Beethoven's noble Russian patron. Beethoven took his theme from the Prast collection, 1815, which is not now published, having been superseded by Rimsky-Korsakov's fine collection. The theme is found here (no. 13) marked Andante and the Russian words may be translated: "Ah, is this my fate? And what a fate!"

The Concert Etude, written by an Italian composer still alive, proved a fascinating diversion, and was played with such charm and grace that a second hearing was demanded.

The Quartet also played the slow movement of the Beethoven Quartet, opus 135, in memory of the late Mrs. T. S. Elliott, a highly respected member of the summer colony, who died last winter. Mrs. Bok prefaced the music with a tribute to Mrs. Elliott, her beloved friend, speaking of the faithful admiration Mrs. Elliott had always entertained for the Quartet who in turn had given her their devotion and love. A reverence imbued the music that made itself felt deeply, and it seemed a most fitting tribute to a woman who had devotedly loved music and had ways sleep with one stocking on the year around and I never have a headache." He also says, "When I hear the ring on the telephone I always wait until it rings three times. Then I know it is not a bill collector."

given so much joy to those around her.

The musicians after each program offering were called back many times to acknowledge the applause of an audience which taxed the hall. The profound attention accorded at all times was an eloquent tribute to the superb artistry of the Quartet. In the audience were noted many notable musical figures, such as Felix Belmont, Lea Luboshutz, William Harms, Zlatko Balokovic, Helmut Baerwald, and others. Particular interest was manifested in Dr. and Mrs. Randall Thompson, Dr. Thompson being the new director of the Curtis Institute of Music, succeeding Dr. Josef Hoffman, resigned.

Patrons for the series of concerts are: Mrs. Mary Louise Curtis Bok, honorary chairman, Miss Anne M. Alden, Miss Emma Alden, Mrs. Curtis Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Zlatko Balokovic, Mr. and Mrs. John F.
